Satisfactory Academic Progress Continuation - Appeal for Eligibility to Receive Aid

When placed on financial aid suspension, students must submit a financial aid appeal for reinstatement of their eligibility. As part of the appeal, students were required to develop a plan of action and obtain an academic plan. The academic plan prepared by an academic advisor served as a guide for the student to use during the course selection process. The student's academic record will be reviewed at the end of the term for which the appeal was granted. The student will

- have achieved the minimum satisfactory academic requirements, and automatically regain eligibility to participate in the financial aid programs or
- have not achieved the minimum requirements and must be reevaluated for eligibility to continue to receive financial aid.

If the student does not achieve the minimum requirements, the student is placed on financial aid suspension and must file an appeal for reinstatement of eligibility. Submit this form along with an Academic Plan to the Office of Student Financial Assistance. In some cases where the student has shown significant improvement, the financial aid eligibility will be reinstated without additional documentation.

The Academic Plan must be prepared by an advisor and indicate whether or not the student

- · Has met the conditions of the prior appeal and
- Is progressing at the level indicated in the Academic plan to allow for graduation according to current university policies. All academic reviews for continuation of aid must contain the signature of the student and an academic advisor (or the department's designee) within the student's major.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy

The various federal and state regulations governing student financial assistance programs require that an institution develop a standard to measure a student's reasonable progress towards a degree objective. This policy known as satisfactory academic progress sets the standard for the minimum allowable academic progress required to retain eligibility for financial aid. The determinants in calculating satisfactory academic progress include (1) the number of credit hours attempted comparative to the number of hours earned in all coursework inclusive of transfer coursework, (2) the cumulative grade point average and (3) length of time taken to complete the degree program. Satisfactory academic progress is determined at the conclusion of the spring term for each academic year. Student's whose appeals are granted are be subject to more frequent monitoring at the conclusion of each term. Failure to maintain satisfactory academic progress will result in the student being placed on financial aid suspension. Students are ineligible to receive financial aid awards while on financial aid suspension, but they may appeal for the reinstatement of their financial aid awards.

Satisfactory Academic Progress - Continuation Appeal (STUDENT HAS SUBMITTED A PREVIOUS SAP APPEAL)

As a part of the federal requirements for satisfactory academic progress (SAP) students must receive academic advising to assist the student in developing an academic plan. The academic plan should provide a guide for the student to use during the course selection process and ultimately lead to the fulfillment of the academic requirements for graduation. As the student's performance increases the student's cumulative grade point average and ratio should also show a comparable improvement leading the student to meet the minimum academic requirements to remain eligible for financial assistance and graduate. The Academic Plan must be reviewed at the end of the term to determine whether or not the conditions outlined in the Academic Plan were successfully completed.
