The Jesse H. Jones School of Business consists of two departments: (1) Accounting and Finance and (2) Business Administration. Through these two departments, four undergraduate degrees and one graduate degree are offered. The four undergraduate degrees are the Bachelor of Business Administration in Accounting, the Bachelor of Business Administration in Finance, the Bachelor of Business Administration in Management, and the Bachelor of Business Administration in Marketing. The one graduate degree is the Master of Business Administration in Business Administration. The Bachelor of Business Administration in Accounting and Bachelor of Business Administration in Finance are administered through the Department of Accounting and Finance while the remaining two degrees are administered through the Department of Business Administration. Students should refer to the Graduate School Bulletin of Texas Southern University for a description of the graduate degree.

The School is administratively organized with a Dean who is assisted by an Associate Dean for Academics, an Associate Dean for Business Student Services, two faculty chairpersons, and support staff. All administrative offices, including departmental offices, are located in the Jesse H. Jones School of Business building.

MISSION STATEMENT

As one of the Historically Black Universities across the United States, Texas Southern University has a unique mission of service to the urban populace. Thus, the primary mission of the Jesse H. Jones School of Business is the education of students from the State of Texas and, in particular, from Houston and the surrounding area.

The primary thrust of the School of Business is on undergraduate programs. The mission of the School is to provide professional education essential to those who are preparing themselves for positions of responsibility in business, government, and community-service organizations. The School aspires to local and regional recognition as an excellent school of business. Its faculty is committed to the active involvement of students in their learning, a wide range of intellectual contributions that reflect the diversity and expertise of the faculty, and professional development activities to enhance teaching and learning.

The School is committed to providing students with a background of general knowledge and specialized training in the philosophical, social, ethical, and economic context of a rapidly changing, global, and increasingly multicultural society. Additional developmental experiences are provided through programs designed to develop social and cognitive skills, such as self-confidence, poise, and verbal and non-verbal communication skills.

Research and public service are seen as complementary to and supportive of the primary goal of providing quality education to students. Thus, research on teaching and issues related to instructional development are valued.

For the faculty, the Houston Area Research Library Consortium provides access to seven other Houston area medical and university libraries, including Rice University and the University of Houston.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Student organizations operating in the Jesse H. Jones School of Business contribute significantly to the student’s total educational experience. They are important vehicles for creative interaction among students, between students and faculty, and between students and their counterparts on other campuses. They also provide linkages between the School and the business and professional community.

School-Wide Organizations

The Mack H. Hannah Junior Chamber of Commerce was named for a black pioneer business leader in Houston who also served as a University Regent and benefactor of the School. This school-wide club is a central focus of extra-curricular efforts and serves as the student government organization within the Jesse H. Jones School of Business. In the latter function, it assures students a voice in all aspects of college life and affords them the opportunity to experience leadership and participatory governance.

Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE) create and present a wide variety of innovative community outreach projects. This provides an opportunity for students to make a difference and to develop leadership, teamwork, and communication skills through learning, practicing, and teaching the principles of free enterprise.

The Student Business Leadership Organization (SBLO) has as its mission the development of Jesse H. Jones School of Business students into community and corporate leaders by enhancing their skills, talents, and experiences. Membership qualifications include being an undergraduate major or minor in the Jesse H. Jones School of Business or pursuing the Master of Business Administration. degree while having a grade point average of 2.70 or higher.

Beta Gamma Sigma is the honor society serving business programs accredited by AACSB International – The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. Membership in Beta Gamma Sigma is the highest recognition a business student anywhere in the world can receive in a business program accredited by AACSB International. The mission of Beta Gamma Sigma is to encourage and honor academic achievement in the study of business along with personal and professional excellence in the practice of business.

Accounting Organizations

Beta Alpha Psi is a national scholastic and professional accounting fraternity. The Delta Xi Chapter was established at Texas Southern University in 1975 for the purpose of encouraging and recognizing scholastic and professional excellence in the field of accounting. To achieve this purpose or objective, Beta Alpha Psi fosters the following: the promotion of the study and practice of accounting; the provision of opportunities for self-development and association among members and practicing accountants; and the encouragement of a sense of ethical, social, and public responsibilities. The minimum scholastic requirement for juniors and seniors to be members is a cumulative GPA of 3.00 in accounting courses. Also, students must have completed Accounting 231, 232, and 331 for admission.

The National Association of Black Accountants (NABA) is a national organization of accounting students. Its primary purpose is to promote professional development in accounting, to encourage and help members of minority groups enter the accounting profession, and to provide assistance in developing accounting education for members of minority groups. The student chapter at Texas Southern University was organized in 1975, and membership is open to all students majoring in accounting or those who have expressed a desire to enter the accounting profession.

Finance Organization

The Urban Financial Services Coalition plans and executes activities designed to reinforce the theoretical base provided in the classroom with knowledge and insights gained through real-world exposure in the field of finance. This organization further serves as a forum for social and other extra-curricular activities designed to enrich the academic experience of finance majors.

Marketing Organization

The American Marketing Association (AMA), which has a chapter at Texas Southern University, is a national organization that serves to instill a desire in students to develop excellence in marketing and to provide them access to the professional enrichment activities provided by the national organization.
